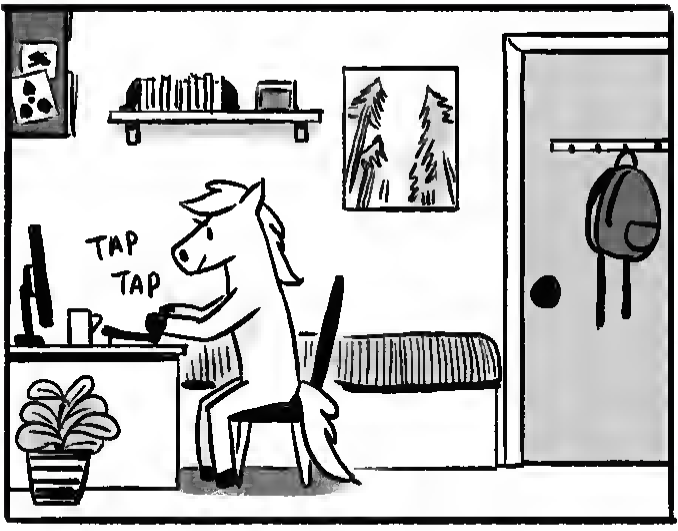
...when I study late at night.

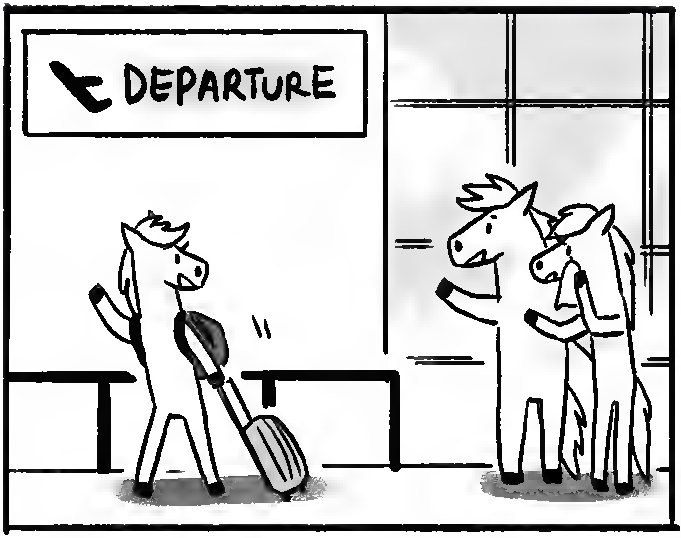
Even when I had many friends there,
I still missed home a lot...

...when it is festival time in my homeland...



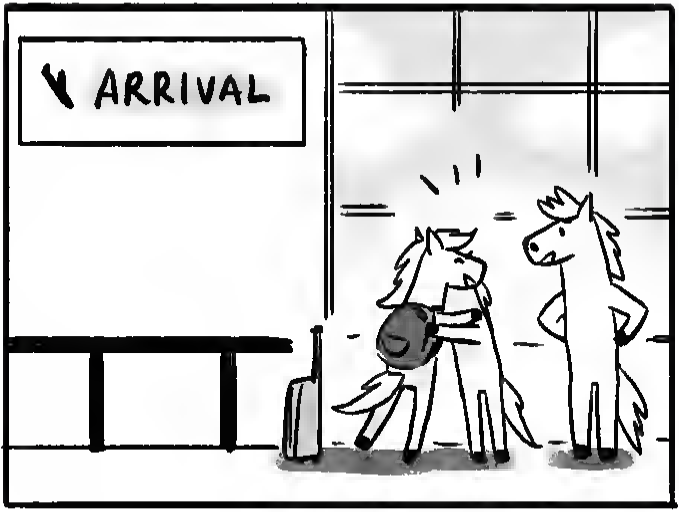
Writing this news story reminds me of the time when I was studying abroad.

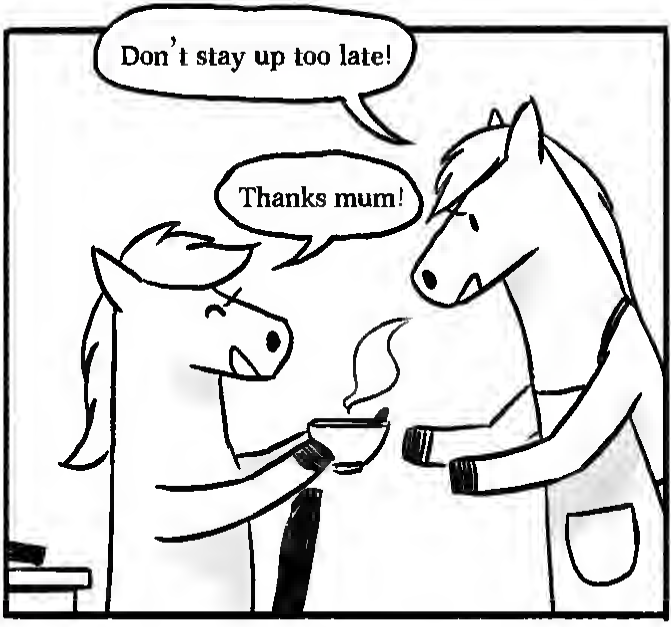
Some years ago, I was a university student studying in another country.



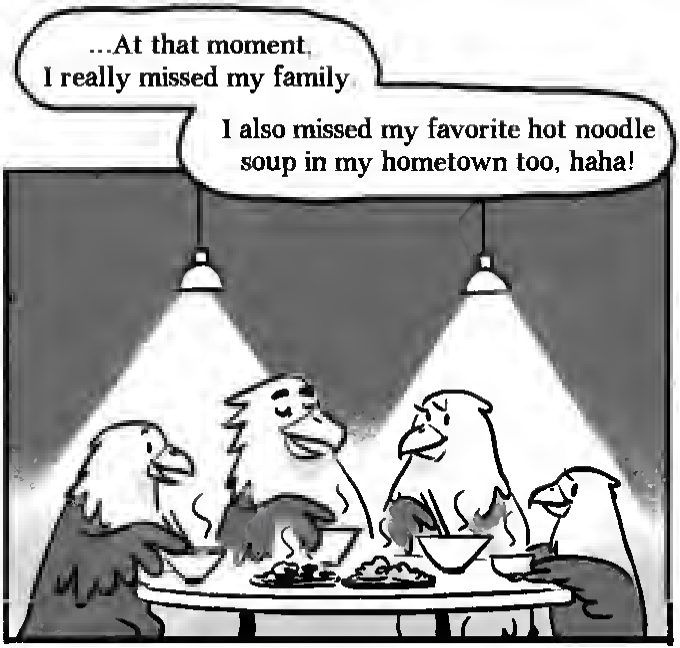
It was exciting to be free, meeting new friends and have lots of fun.

After graduating,
I returned to my homeland.





After all,
nothing is better than a taste of home.



...At that moment,
I really missed my family
I also missed my favorite hot noodle soup in my hometown too, haha!

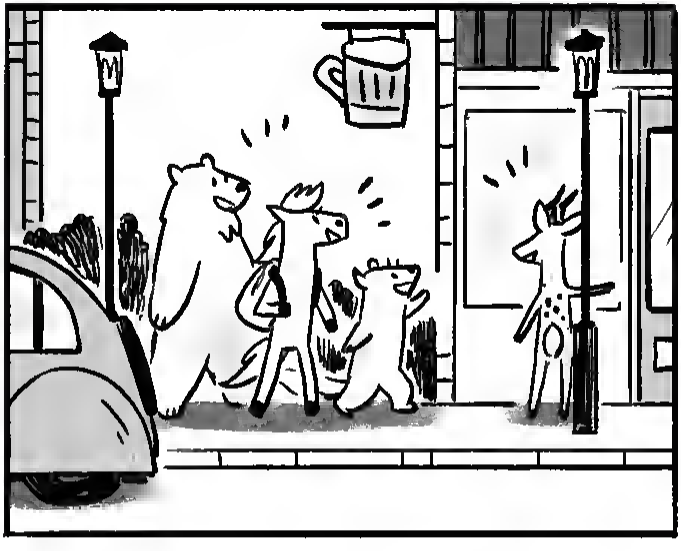
ROAR STREET JOURNAL

A Taste of Home

Any special memories?



I learned a lot of things.

And I also learned how good it is to be with my family.

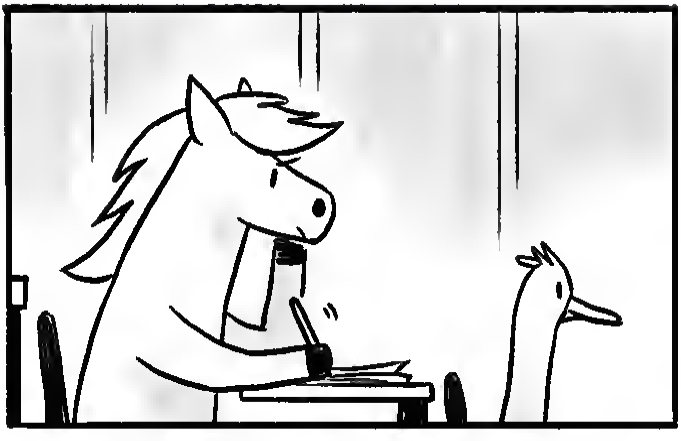
...ah...I remember those interviews...
The company was very far away, so I got up at 5 in the morning and waited for a 3-hour bus ride in the snow...
BUS STOP



I learned to be independent.

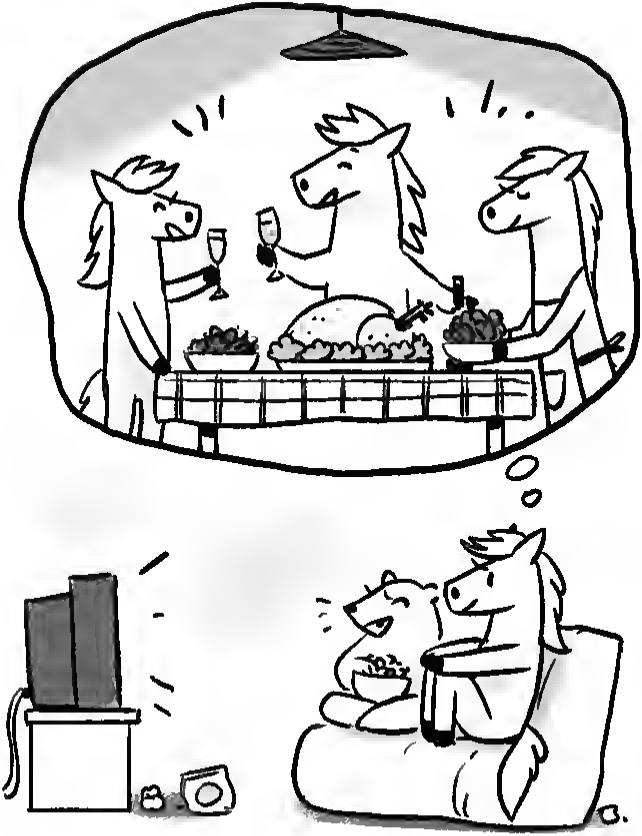
Still working, my dear? It's almost midnight.
Yeah, I'm almost done.
I made some soup for you.



...when it is my birthday...

Today, I interviewed a successful businessman who chased his dreams in a foreign land.

He went there all on his own,
and he told me the challenges he faced at the beginning of his career.

have some soup!

…when I fall sick…
